Objectives

- To create awareness about HIV/AIDS prevention, healthy lifestyle, and voluntary blood donation among youth.
- To develop leadership and communication skills among students.
- To promote voluntary blood donation.
- To encourage healthy and responsible behavior among young people.

Summary Report

The Red Ribbon Club (RRC) and the Tamil Nadu State AIDS Control Society (TANSACS), Chennai, jointly organized a Peer Education Training Programme for RRC Programme Officers and student volunteers. The programme was conducted at Thiruvalluvar University, and the resource person was Dr. J. Senthil Velmurugan, Registrar of Thiruvalluvar University. He addressed the gathering and delivered a lecture on Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) destroys the body's immune system and impairs its capacity to fight infections, resulting in Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS), a dangerous illness. In addition to unprotected sexual contact, sharing contaminated needles, infected blood transfusions, and mother-to-child transmission during pregnancy or lactation, HIV is mostly conveyed by contaminated bodily fluids such blood, semen, vaginal fluids, and breast milk. Casual contact, such as sharing meals or hugs, does not spread it. A person may have modest symptoms like fever, exhaustion, and enlarged lymph nodes in the early stages, but when the infection advances to AIDS, serious symptoms like weight loss, persistent diarrhea, TB, and other diseases may manifest.

Outcome of the Program

Dr. P. Praveena, RRC Programme Officer, along with student volunteers Ms. L. Pavithra and Ms. H. Kaniga of III B.Sc. Physics, underwent training conducted by the trainers of the Tamil Nadu State AIDS Control Society. For AY 2025-2026 RRC Fund amount of RS 3100/- were given.

The HIV/AIDS awareness program had a very favorable and significant influence on students' awareness and knowledge of the disease's mechanisms of transmission and prevention. Participants actively participated in the program, which encouraged voluntary engagement in activities like blood donation and HIV testing and helped to promote safe and responsible health behaviors. Additionally, the program helped create a more understanding and supportive atmosphere for individuals living with HIV/AIDS by lowering stigma and misconceptions related to the illness. By preparing students to serve as awareness ambassadors and disseminate information to a larger community, it also enhanced peer education.
