Summary

The Faculty Development Programme, attended by Ms. Puvizhi S., Ms. Priyadharshini S., Ms. Lavanya Anand V. S., and Ms. Nabiha Nausheen, Language Trainers commenced with a formal inauguration at the Infosys Mysore Campus, followed by an introductory session on the objectives of Project Genesis – Global Business Foundation Skills (GBFS).

The eight-day program encompassed various modules designed to enhance professional skills and prepare faculty to train students for the corporate world. The sessions were structured around:

1. Facilitation Skills – Techniques for effective classroom delivery, student engagement, and managing group dynamics.
2. Language Enhancement – Modules on spoken and written communication, vocabulary building, grammar, and corporate email etiquette. Special attention was given to resume and CV building strategies, highlighting the importance of ATS (Applicant Tracking System) compliance and keyword usage.
3. Quantitative Aptitude – Training on reasoning ability, problem-solving, and aptitude techniques essential for placement preparation.

The sessions were interactive, including role plays, group tasks, and real-world corporate scenarios. The trainers from Infosys BPM provided insightful feedback and practical frameworks to align teaching methods with industry expectations.

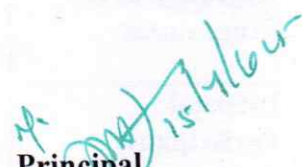

Outcome of the Program

1. Enhanced faculty competence in training students for corporate readiness.
2. Exposure to corporate training modules and professional communication standards.
3. Practical understanding of quantitative and verbal aptitude techniques.
4. Empowered participants to mentor students effectively in employability skills.

The FDP concluded with a valedictory session, where participants received certificates and shared reflections on the program's impact on their professional journey.
